Now you can transfer files and cut, copy, paste them and even encrypt them in the system clipboard using this convenient application. But all this is done in the background when you are not taking notice of it. Using the program you can transfer up to 25 files at once, retaining their original association with custom tags. And all this can be done in the background while you continue your work without risking losing anything. One of the unique features of this software is the unlimited clipboard management. This allows you to safely retain up to 25 items in the system clipboard at one time. It is just the kind of management that Windows by default does not provide. This makes 101 Clips a great tool for Windows users that often fail to pay attention to the actions they take when using the operating system.
